Interview with Ms. Martin

By; Emma Rodriguez and Alawna Wittner

Q. Tell us about your experience working with students of this age group.

A. She likes working with this age group because they are young enough to be very sweet and show a lot of growth from the beginning to end of the year.

Q. Describe a successful lesson, tell why it is successful.

A. The ocean lessons are very successful because they are engaging to the students and incorporate reading, writing, math, science, and art.

Q. How do you feel about team teaching?

A. She loves it! She loves learning from her co-workers and sharing her ideas with them as well.

Q. What are some of the most important things you learned when student teaching?

A. Some of the most important things she learned from student teaching is to get help from co-workers and reward positive behaviors.

Q. What books are you currently reading?

A. She is currently reading "Holes" and "One and Only Ivan" with her students. She is reading the "Woman in Cabin Ten" and a "True Crime" book at home.

Q. What do you look for in a principal?

A. She looks for an up-beat attitude and someone who gives her teachers autonomy in their classrooms.

Q. What were you like as a student?

A. She was a perfectionist and got very nervous for tests and presentations. She was talkative with her friends.

Q. What do you like to do when you are not teaching?

A. When she is not teaching she likes to read, she likes to do D.I.Y projects around her house, watch movies, and go camping with her dogs.

Q. How do you make sure you are teaching to the state standards?

A. She makes sure she is teaching the state standard by using the standards to write her lesson plans and assessing and re-teaching as needed.

Q. How do you feel about noise in your classroom?

A. The noise level depends on what the class is doing, she likes it quiet when students are doing independent work so they can concentrate, but loves the noisy sound of learning when students are doing group work.
